

CENSORSHIP IS DECREED TODAY IN ALL GERMANY

While The President Discards Remnants Of Prussian Govt.

BULLETIN

Berlin, Feb. 6—(AP)—The Prussian Diet was dissolved today by vote of the "triumvirate" consisting of Vice Chancellor von Papen, Hans Kerrl, President of the Diet, and Conrad Adenauer, President of the Prussian State Council.

A net Diet will be elected on March 5, the date on which an election for the national Reichstag is to be held.

Berlin, Feb. 6—(AP)—Claiming that the Supreme Court's verdict of Oct. 25, 1932, charged him with establishing order in Prussia, President Paul von Hindenburg swept into the discarded today the remnants of the Braun-Severing Prussian government, transferring the powers of the two chief officials to Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen.

The Vice Chancellor, as Commissioner for Prussia, will take Premier Otto Braun's place in the triumvirate ruling the Prussian Diet and together with Hans Kerrl, National Socialist President of the Diet, vote dissolution of that parliamentary body.

Conrad Adenauer, president of the Prussian States Council and third member of the triumvirate, and Premier Braun had voted against dissolution which was favored by the Nazi, Herr Kerrl, The Vice Chancellor will meet with Herr Kerrl and Adenauer late today for action.

Nation Endangered
President von Hindenburg's decree stated that "through the attitude of the Prussian state toward the verdict of the Supreme Court on Oct. 25, 1932, confusion resulted endangering the state's life."

The Prussian government had been leading a precarious existence since July 20, 1932, when Baron von Papen, then Chancellor, had the President appoint him Commissioner for Prussia. In October the Supreme Court decided the government of Premier Braun and Minister of the Interior Karl Severing should represent "the sovereignty of Prussia."

The President's decree said further: "I therefore, until further notice, transfer to the Reich's Commissioner for Prussia and his representatives, the power conceded by the above verdict to the Prussian state ministry."

Strict Censorship
The decree is based on article 48 of the Federal constitution.

A rigorous system of censorship, extending for the first time even to newspapers and periodicals reaching Germany from other countries, became effective today under a decree signed by President Hindenburg.

In the future, even foreign publications must conform to the Hitler government's press standards if they desire to circulate here.

Furthermore the Reichsbanner, the forces which ardently campaigned for President von Hindenburg's re-election last year, can be deprived of their uniforms if the Nazi Minister of Interior, Dr. Wilhelm Frick, so rules.

The newspapers for four weeks, or on a second offense within three months, for six months. The grounds for suspension was broadened greatly and if applicable, foreign newspapers or periodicals could be prohibited for as long as six months.

Outdoor demonstrations were permitted only if the purpose was not detrimental to general peace and safety. Police were permitted to intervene and dissolve mass meetings if a police officer detected open provocation in the speeches.

Report Bullitt Is Going On His Own
Paris, Feb. 6—(AP)—The American Embassy has forward to Washington a report that William C. Bullitt was acting on his own responsibility as a writer interested in foreign affairs when he conferred recently with Joseph Paul-Boncour, who then was Premier, and with Edouard Herriot, also a former Premier.

He was representing no one in the United States, the report said, although a Foreign Office spokesman said at the time of the meeting he understood Mr. Bullitt was acting as the emissary of Col. Edward M. House. There also were reports that he was acting for President-elect Roosevelt.

Henry Hoffman Of
Pa. Corners Dead
Henry Hoffman, aged 83 years, a resident of the vicinity of Pennsylvania Corners in Ogle county, passed away about 9 o'clock this morning at his home three miles northeast of Pennsylvania Corners. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Christian church at Pennsylvania Corners with interment in the Evergreen cemetery. The obituary will be published later.

POSTAGE DEMAND
Washington, Feb. 6—(AP)—Rural route mail boxes, in the opinion of the Postoffice Department, are for mail and not for catalogues distributed without Uncle Sam's aid.

It ordered all carriers today to take out of the boxes all such matter and hold it until the sender pays postage.

SMALL ALTAR IS MADE BY DIXON BOY OF 10 YEARS

Edward Lamphier's
Handiwork To Be Shown Convention

Edward Lamphier, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lamphier and grand-son of Mrs. E. N. Howell of this city, has built a miniature altar which was exhibited yesterday at the Sunday school session of St. Luke's Episcopal church. The miniature is remarkably well done, with close adherence to detail. It is complete with cross and candlesticks, containing small candles and vases containing artificial flowers.

The altar proper is made of bass-wood. The candlesticks are made from thread spools cut down. Also, back of the altar is a reredos, made of cardboard, from which is hung a dossal, cut from a small piece of tapestry. The panels of the reredos are decorated with the conventional pattern, drawn with crayon. The whole thing is effectively lighted with two Christmas tree lamps hung on the sides of the altar and another such lamp placed in a bicycle lamp which serves as a spot-light.

Father E. Norman Burke, pastor of the church, is taking the miniature to the diocesan convention where it will be placed among the exhibits from the church schools all over the diocese.

DUTCH CRUISER, MUTINIOUS CREW IN CHARGE, SAILS

Entire East Indies
Fleet Is Hunting
"Pirate" Ship

Batavia, Java, Feb. 6—(AP)—The entire Dutch East Indies fleet joined in a search of the high seas today for a Dutch warship, which has disappeared with a mutinous crew in control. What the crew intended to do or where it planned to take the vessel were unknown.

Nine Dutch officers and a number of sub-officers were kidnapped when the mutiny broke out early yesterday aboard the Cruiser De Zeven Provinciën. The native Sumatran sailors, angry because their pay had been cut, put out to sea immediately.

As a threat to any pursuing force that might come within range, the cruiser's deck bristled with 16 big guns. One of the officers escaped in a rowboat when the warship pulled out and he reported the natives were in an ugly mood.

They were in the East Indian waters east of Borneo today, having seized the ship while on a cruise south of Celebes island. The commander of the cruiser was ashore at the time and he commanded the government steamer Aldebaran, a much smaller vessel, to give chase.

The Aldebaran would stand little show in a fight with the cruiser if the natives decided to open fire. Two 100 mm. guns, four 5.9 inch ten 13 pounders and two machine guns were at their disposal.

Foreclosure Sales Will Be Protected

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 6—(AP)—State Attorney General Paul F. Good today said violence and intimidation of prospective bidders at foreclosure sales offered no hope of relief for Nebraska farmers as sales conducted under such circumstances would be held void by the courts.

Renewed Onslaught of Frigid Temperatures For Midwest Is Pledged By Weatherman Today

BULLETIN
Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—A cold wave for Illinois with the temperature going below zero in central and north sections by Tuesday night, was predicted by the U. S. Weather Bureau here today.

Chicago, Feb. 6—(AP)—A renewed onslaught of frigid temperatures for the midwest was promised for tonight by the weatherman following a brief respite from the year's first cold wave today. He didn't promise relief until Wednesday.

The new cold wave—that's what C. A. Donnell, chief of the local Weather Bureau called it—was reported rushing down from Alaska and northwestern Canada, on the heels of the departing one which brought scattered snow and bitter cold week end and mercury readings to the district.

In Duluth it snowed and rose to 10 below zero Sunday afternoon from a minus 27 degrees the night before. Farther south St. Paul shivered at 3 above zero late in the day after waking to give a second look at thermometers which registered 18 degrees below.

TRAPPER FOUND DEAD IN CABIN ON ROCK RIVER

Roy Knee's Body Was Found In Cabin On
Farm In Nelson

Elmer Roy Knee, for several years a hunter and trapper residing in a cabin on the banks of Rock river about a mile southwest of Nelson, was found dead in bed at his cabin at noon Sunday. The condition of the body, which was badly frozen, indicated that he had been dead for several days. He was last seen alive about three weeks ago.

It had been his custom to go to the Miller Stitzel store in Nelson for supplies about twice weekly. He had not been seen for nearly a month and at noon Sunday Walter Thompson of Nelson went to his cabin to ascertain whether or not he was at home. He discovered the body on the bed, and immediately notified Deputy Sheriff Ray Wilson on whose farm the Knee cabin is located. The deputy went to the cabin and entered, finding the body badly frozen and notified Sheriff Fred Richardson. The body was removed to the Staples mortuary where Coroner Frank M. Banker conducted an inquest at 9:30 this morning, the jury returning a verdict finding that death was due to acute heart attack.

Buried At Rock Falls

Roy, as he was known to a wide circle of friends in Dixon, Rock Falls and Sterling, for the past 15 years had resided in a cabin on the Wilson farm. For the past few years he had complained of heart attacks and about three years ago became critically ill from an attack of pneumonia poisoning. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ann Hager of Riverside, Ill., who came to Dixon last evening to take charge of the body and Mrs. Jeanette Byers of Atlantic City, N. J., and one brother Earl who is in the United States Marine engineering service. The body was taken to Rock Falls this afternoon where services were conducted from the Wheelock funeral parlors with interment in the family lot in the Rock Falls cemetery.

CONEY ISLAND SWEEP BY FIRE DURING MORNING

Gale Drove Flames
Along Boardwalk:
Loss Uncertain

New York, Feb. 6—(AP)—Fire, persistent plague of Coney Island, struck again today at the famous seashore resort, riding along the boardwalk on a biting southwest gale and destroying several amusement places.

In the bleak hush two hours before dawn and with thermometers registering 12 above zero, fire spurted from the wooden and papier mache "Tunnel of Love" in that section of the amusement place known as "The Bowers."

The gale, howling through the empty skeletons of summer amusements, picked up the fire and swept it through the feris wheel, the kiddie park, the cat-epillar ride, the motordrome and two wooden concessions.

Large bath houses were in the path of the fire when suddenly the wind, as if in penitence, swung sharply to the north.

An accurate estimate of the damage was not immediately obtainable. A police officer at the temporary headquarters established in the fire lines placed the estimate at $100,000.

The cause of the fire in the "Tunnel of Love" was sought in an investigation which was started as soon as the fire was brought under control. No one was known to have been in the amusement place.

Crop Production Loans Ready Soon

Washington, Feb. 6—(AP)—The Department of Agriculture announced today that disbursements of money to farmers under the $90,000,000 crop production loan bill, signed Saturday by President Hoover, will begin before March 1.

Secretary Hyde expects to approve regulations to govern the loans before the end of this week and instructions will then be issued for executives in the regional offices at Dallas, St. Louis, Memphis, Minneapolis, Salt Lake City and Washington.

A reduction of the maximum loans to individual farmers from $400 as was allowed in 1932 to $300 this year is being considered because of the increase in applications expected.

State University Architect Is Dead

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—James McLaren White, 55, Supervising Architect of the University of Illinois since 1907, died in his home today of heart disease.

White designed many of the new buildings constructed during the active building program of the past ten years. He was Superintendent of Business operations for the University in 1922, and Dean of the College of Engineering from 1905 to 1907. He was graduated from the University in 1890.

JEALOUSY WAS CAUSE OF DEATH LEAP OF WOMAN

Unemployed Stenographer Jumped To Death in Chi. Club

Chicago, Feb. 6—(AP)—A fit of jealousy was believed by investigators they said today to have prompted Miss Verna Hayburn, 25-year-old unemployed stenographer, to leap to her death from the 33rd floor of the Medinah Athletic Club building after a visit to a night club with Albert Russell Erskine, Jr., 24, adopted son of the president of the Studebaker Corporation, motor car manufacturer.

The young woman's body, broken and frozen, was found by a chambermaid early yesterday, lying on a ledge eight stories below Erskine's room.

Erskine told police Miss Hayburn had been his companion at the Chez Paree night club Saturday evening. After the festivities he said he had placed her in a taxi, presumably bound for her home, and that he then spent the night at the home of a friend, A. G. Atwater, son of a wealthy manufacturing executive and brother-in-law of Philip K. Wrigley, official of the Wrigley Chewing Gum Company.

Man Not Held

Erskine was not held. His story was corroborated by Atwater who was among the friends who accompanied him to the night rendezvous.

Lieut. Patrick B. O'Connell who conducted the investigation said Erskine's account of a misunderstanding which arose at the night club when Miss Hayburn resented his attentions to another girl in the party offered a plausible solution to the affair.

Lieut. O'Connell expressed the opinion that the girl had gone to Erskine's apartment to demand an explanation of what she considered an affront, and that not finding him there, she became morose and leaped to her death.

HEARINGS TO BE HELD ON BILLS AT SPRINGFIELD

Far-Reaching Pieces Of Legislation To Be Considered

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—Committee hearings on three far-reaching pieces of proposed legislation will hold the attention of Illinois legislators when they convene tomorrow.

Forrest ranks the consideration of bills recommended by the Judicial Advisory Council to reform the Court System of Illinois. The measures will come before the Senate Judiciary committee at 7:30 tomorrow night.

The principal object of the bills is to abolish the "term" of court and its significance to speed up procedure in the smaller counties which now hold two terms a year under the constitution, cases being returnable only at these terms. The new law, if enacted will allow a continuous disposition of cases on return days and eliminate the long wait for the regular court terms.

Chain Stores Tax

A large delegation will attend a hearing at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on the bill introduced by Senator Thomas P. Gunning, Princeton, to tax chain stores on an ascending scale and require all merchant establishments to be licensed by the Department of Trade and Commerce. The revenue from the license would go to relieve the unemployed. The bill will be heard by the Senate sitting as a committee of the whole.

At the same time the Senate Judiciary committee will consider a group of child welfare bills introduced by Senator Richard J. Barr, Joliet. They were offered on recommendation of the Illinois Committee on Child Welfare and are aimed to reduce crime and dependency and revise the Juvenile Court law.

Consideration of amendments to the sales tax bill will be resumed by the Senate Wednesday. Its supporters have agreed that its chances for passage are slight unless radical changes are made.

Murder Trial Of Doctor Is Begun

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—Trial of Dr. Armin Kreutzer of Milwaukee on a charge of murder by abortion began before Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady today.

Selection of a jury was expected to take all day. State's Attorney Charles E. Moran handled the prosecution himself. George Field was attorney for the physician, accused of causing the death Dec. 16 of Miss Ralls of Cudahy, Wis., in Winthrop Harbor, Ill.

Barry's "Trial" Continued Till Tuesday By Com.

Suspended Sgt.-At-Arms
Of Senate Defended Self Today

Washington, Feb. 6—(AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee today recessed its investigation of the statement by Davis S. Barry, Senate Sergeant-at-Arms, that some members of Congress sell their votes for money, without taking action in the case, but with an agreement to continue tomorrow.

Suspended last Friday, Barry appeared today in his own defense and cited public charges of congressional bribes to support his magazine article saying some members of Congress sell their votes for money.

He cited a statement made by Senator Glass (D., Va.), in the Senate last spring that banking interests had "hired some Congressmen" to oppose bank legislation.

The committee was inquiring into Barry having said in an article that there are "not many crooks in Congress," and also that there are only a few Senators and Representatives "who sell their votes and it is pretty well known who those few are."

Consider Publisher

Involved also in the consideration given the case by the committee was whether it should point its investigation toward the New Outlook, the magazine which published the article written by Barry. The magazine is edited by Alfred E. Menth.

A resolution before the committee called for certification of the article to federal authorities for possible libel proceedings.

Barry today called the committee's attention to the investigation of charges by the Senate Lobby committee a year or two ago that Senators had received money from those interested in the sugar tariff.

He testified that a fair reading of the text of his article would have shown his purpose was to "proclaim the integrity of the Congress as a whole."

"Senator Said More"

Testifying in a calm voice as he sat near the middle of the long committee table surrounded by Senators and spectators, he contended he had said far less in his article than Glass and others had publicly said.

"Within the past few days," he asserted, "a Senator has said in the Senate that a certain measure would be enacted because 'the interests' were behind it and it is a matter of frequent comment that the halls of Congress are filled with groves of lobbyists and the lobbyist for special interests has always had a sinister name."

"It may be, from all that is recited above, a fair inference that there are some men subject at least to influence and by inference * * * and my inference was based on a general knowledge of conditions surrounding Congress and not on any concrete cases such as that spoken of by Senator Glass."

Barry said he would "unhesitatingly tender" an apology of his article was interpreted as "an attack on the integrity of the Senate."

Through a running cross examination by committee men, he reiterated his belief that some members of congress sell their votes.

Believes Nye and Glass

"Do you believe there are any Senators or Representatives who have or do sell their votes?" inquired Senator Schuyler (R., Colo.).

"I'm bound to believe so when I read the statements of Senators Nye and Glass," Barry said.

"Aside from that have you any knowledge of any Senator or Representative who has sold his vote?"

McWilliams Begins Third Fight Today

Rockford, Feb. 6—(AP)—Twice saved from electrocution by the Illinois Supreme Court, Russell McWilliams, 18, faced a third trial for his life today on a charge of slaying a street car motorman in a robbery.

Clarence Darrow, aged Chicago criminal defense attorney and humanitarian, journeyed here to resume his efforts to save McWilliams' life. Twice he appeared before the Supreme Court in Springfield and won reversals of Judge Arthur E. Fisher's death sentence.

A change of venue took the case before Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo.

"Fainter" Given Half Year Stretch

Chicago, Feb. 6—(AP)—James Dillon Olney, Ill., youth whose facility at fainting won the sympathies and lunch money of shopgirls in department stores, was sentenced to serve six months in the Bridewell today.

"I did actually faint from hunger once," Dillon said. "Someone gave me 50¢ so I decided it was a good way to earn a living."

Police alleged he picked up $9 a day under false pretenses.

Cancer "Doctors" Sentenced To Prison

Chicago, Feb. 6—(AP)—Lester J. Tilton and Harry De Joannis, who operated a cancer clinic and claimed cures by their application of a black paste, were sentenced to prison terms of one to five years and fined $2,000 each today.

Judge Rudolph Desort in Criminal Court overruled their motions for a new trial and imposed sentence. A jury had convicted the pair of conspiracy to violate the Medical Practice Act several months ago.

ENLARGED STORE

William Christos, who conducts a neighborhood grocery on 5th street and Galena avenue has completed extensive improvements at this place of business. The store room has been materially enlarged affording considerable more space and large plate glass windows have been installed providing ample natural lighting for the spacious room. Other exterior improvements are to be made this spring.

King's Daughters Class Had Meeting

The King's Daughters Class of Grace Evangelical church held a Washington Party at the home of Mrs. Phil Miller on Brinton Avenue Wednesday afternoon. The meeting opened by singing the class song. Together they repeated the 23rd Psalm and all joined in the "Lord's Prayer." Mrs. E. A. Somers gave a reading "The Passing of President Coolidge." Then Mrs. Charles Goldmacher read "Washington, The Man." Mrs. H. S. Newman gave a reading "Old Salem of Abe Lincoln's Time Reborn." Mrs. Nettie Sach gave a reading on "Washington." Mrs. Phil Miller gave two guessing contests and last, came a play, "Old School Days," which brought forth much merriment. When the school ma'am rang the bell, calling the pupils to their classes, it made us all think we were in school again. "Where readin' and writin' and 'rithmetic were taught to the tune of a hickory stick. For this school ma'am had a real hickory stick, which she used frequently to restore order." As there was one colored girl in the school, and she could take no "sass from the white children," who naturally would pick on her. The school girls, in their gingham dresses and sun-bonnets, with their hair streaming down their back, or some in braids and carrying lunch in tin dinner buckets, reminded us of our own school days so long ago.

RECENT BRIDE WAS HOSTESS AT PARTY

Miss Mary Brasky, Miss Mildred Pettit and Miss Frances Stanbrough were delightfully entertained with a bridge party by Mrs. Kenneth Waterbury, a bride of a few weeks, formerly Miss Dorothy Trowbridge, daughter of Dr. L. R. Trowbridge of this city. The guests enjoyed the pleasant party and departed at a late hour.

Junior Play Will Be Given Friday, Saturday Evening

The Dixon high school junior play, "Mother Carey's Chickens," was taken from the book of the same name written by Kate Douglas Wiggin and has been read and enjoyed by many people. Rachel Crothers adapted this book for the stage, and is noted for her charming plays which have been frequently presented on the American stage during the past few years. The play, a comedy in three acts, was first presented at the Coe Theater New York City, on Tuesday evening, September 25th, 1917.

The play is a story of how Mrs. Carey with her four children, goes to the Yellow House in Beulah, New Hampshire, to live because she has lost her personal fortune. The Carey family here enjoys many good times. The play has mystery, romance, and comedy and contains an interesting plot.

CO. SUPT. MILLER CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY

County Supt. of Schools L. W. Miller and wife entertained at their home yesterday, the event commemorating the birthday anniversary of the former, which was featured with a sumptuous dinner at noon. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Miller of Aurora, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Miller and son of Rochelle, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hill and daughter of this city and Mrs. Mary Covern of Rockford.

Joint Meeting Of Methodist Women

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church and the Wesleyan Society held a joint meeting on Thursday evening with their families and the Standard Bearer girls as guests.

The meeting opened with the hymn "He Leadeth Me." The devotional topic was "The Living Water." Mrs. G. P. Powell read the story of the "Woman at the Well." Stewardship of service was stressed and she closed with a prayer hymn and prayer. Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Schildberg of the Wesleyan society, sang a duet, "When I Think of How He Loved Me," with Mrs. C. C. Porick at the piano. A Little Light Bearer, Harvie Ware, played a double number on the piano.

Women Voters For Licensing Drivers

Springfield, Ill. Feb. 6—(AP)—The bill of Sen. Edward P. O'Grady of Chicago which calls for the licensing of automobile drivers will get the solid support of the Illinois League of Women Voters.

"No problem confronting the people of Illinois is of wider humanitarian and economic interest than the needless waste of life and limb and property," the league reports.

"One of the most effective weapons in combating motor vehicle accidents has proved to be the standard drivers license law which is now in force in 21 states and the District of Columbia."

"Benefits in the form of 30% differential in motor vehicle fatalities in the states having the Standard Drivers License Law as compared

Make Milady and My Gentleman Smart for Spring

THE WHITE MODE OFF STAGE: Miss Marguerite Churchill, appearing in "Dinner at Eight," wears this long, slim evening gown of Stehl's dull white chalk finished crepe. A box pleating which follows the neck and shoulder line is lined with deep blue cire satin, the only spot of color.

CROCHET FOR SPRING: This dramatic little blouse is crocheted by hand of blue and white mercerized cotton. The double collar and large blue and white striped bow at the neck lend it a very smart, French look.

Beige kid sandals spell spring to the well dressed woman. These kid sandals have unique perforations ranging from pin point size to regular coin dots.

Kid and Goats Make Spring Shoes

The two young ladies in the blue kid oxfords and beige kid strap pumps admire their big brother's shoes of brown goatskin—the new light weight leather for men's shoes.

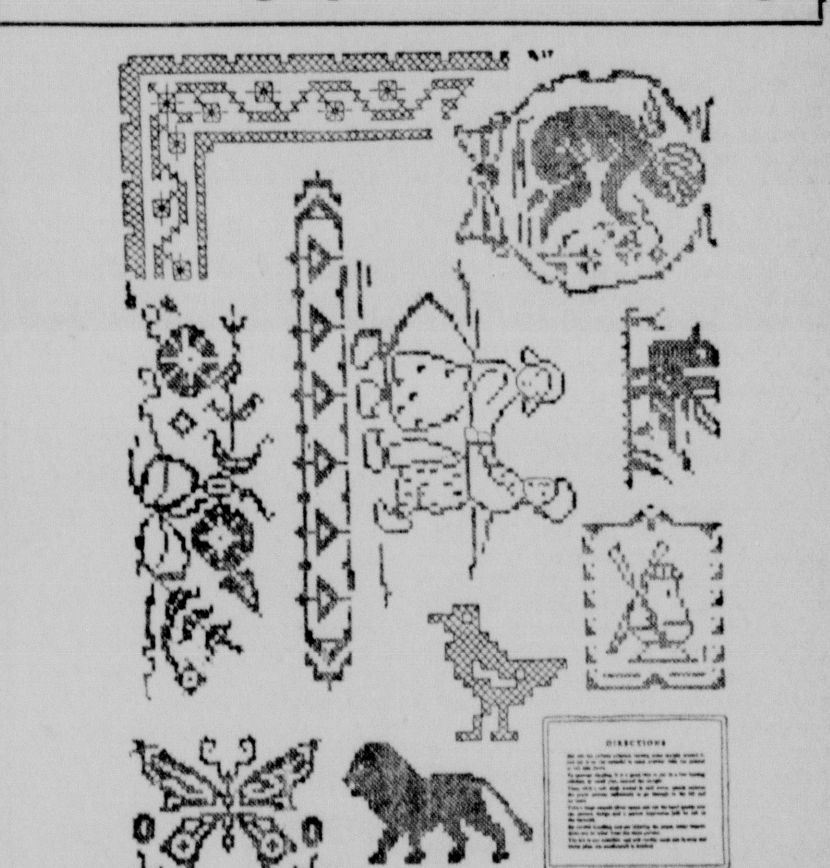

CHARDONIZE UNDIES: Here is the perfect foundation garment in a dull lustrous fabric of chardonize yarn. It molds the figure to the smart spring silhouette and the fabric is just elastic enough to keep it there.

COTTON SYLO FROCK: This colorful little sylo frock is the answer to perfect grooming at home. The wrap around in the back allows you to slip into it without mussing your hair. When you bend down, the skirt stretches without exposing. When you stand up, it falls back into place, forming a slim, straight silhouette.

Look At These Designs From The Telegraph Wonder Package

If you like to do cross-stitch embroidery here is your opportunity to stitch to your heart's content. The illustration shows a group of designs which are reduced and cover only one-half of one of the 12 sheets contained in the Dixon Telegraph Wonder Package.

On some of the half pages we have shown there have appeared 18 or 20 designs. The reason for the fewer number appearing on this half page is due to the larger size of the motifs. For example: the little Dutch boy and girl dancing in the center actually measures eight inches high and 18 inches long. This particular design would be splendid for a tray, especially so if it could be under glass and preserved carefully. A suggestion—the background of this could be ecru linen and the figures in a bright blue.

Attractive Border
The wide border shown is two and one-half inches wide, the cross stitch coarse which would be very attractive in black and bright colors. The outer edge could be made in black, the zig-zag in red and the small squares in orange or yellow. A very appropriate border for a large luncheon cloth.

The rose spray at the bottom of the illustration could be cross stitched for another luncheon cloth with the hem put in with hand hem stitching (double).

The bow knot might be medium of the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Chair Dollies
The Butterfly and Cherub designs are appropriate for dollies to be used on the arms and backs of upholstered chairs. The edges may be hem-stitched and finished with a picoté crocheted in the same color as is used for the cross-stitch.

If you are familiar with cross-stitch work you will see numerous possibilities in these designs and those of you who are not experienced will want to try your hand at it for it is very simple to do and very fascinating.

Remember, the Dixon Telegraph Wonder Package contains 12 sheets 24 by 36 inches, and each one just crowded with designs.

Over 800 Patterns
Do you know that there are over 800 patterns in the Dixon Telegraph Wonder Package and inasmuch as each can be transferred 10 to 12 times you are getting several thousand patterns. Don't forget these designs can be transferred to wood, china, glass, furniture, pottery and paper.

Do you know the low price of this Wonder Package? If you desire to have it mailed it is $1.90, but if you would like to call for it it is only 88¢.

It can be obtained at the office of the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

First favor was awarded Mrs. David Marks, second favor to Mrs. Frances Schrock and honor favor to Mrs. Carrie Coe.

P.T.A. Endorsement For Welfare Bills

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 6—(AP)—A group of child welfare bills, intended to reduce cost of crime and dependency and revise the present juvenile court law, has been endorsed by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, an organization with a membership of 90,000.

The measures, introduced in the legislature by Rep. Thomas P. Sinnott, Rock Island and Richard J. Barr, Joliet were recommended by the Illinois Committee on Child Welfare.

The bills endorsed by the Parent Teachers association follow:

A revision of the juvenile court law.

A bill defining the powers of the department of public welfare in relation to children.

A bill to permit the issuance of a new birth certificate for an illegitimate child if the parents marry.

A bill to make more adequate provision for the support of illegitimate children.

A revision of the act regulating maternity hospitals.

The county welfare bill.

A bill for prophylactics against blindness at birth.

THE BRIGHT LAND OF MAKE-BELIEVE.

Not least interesting of recent newspaper stories is the one telling how two 4-year-old Brooklyn children got lost for an afternoon in a city park, and what befell them there.

The youngsters turned up safe and sound, at last, in the care of a kindly policeman. One of them, a boy, told of the perils from which he had defended his companion, who was a girl.

With a stray fence picket which he had providentially found, he explained he had slain a menacing host—a man with a black beard, a leopard, a lion and a wildcat. One blow had sufficed for each antagonist; and he pointed out that the bodies of his victims would be found "right under an elm tree."

And the little girl substantiated his statement, remarking that he had been a considerate defender and had done all of his killing behind a tree, where she would not have to watch it.

One is moved to hope that when these youngsters were delivered to their parents they didn't get paddled for telling tall tales.

Adults very seldom really understand the motives that prompt children to spin such yarns as these. They give the children credit—or discredit, rather—for being untruthful, deceitful and boastful, where as the truth of the matter is that a child who tells such a story is seldom in the last conscious that he is relating anything but an accurate description of actual facts.

The dream world into which imagination can conduct one can be, to children, quite as real as the regular world of every day. The border between the two worlds is not plainly marked. It is possible to slip from one to the other almost without knowing it; and it is because grown-ups seldom understand this that some children get chided for fibbing.

This child, who slew a man with a black beard and three carnivorous felines beneath a tree in a Brooklyn park, is a little lad to be envied. The shadows of the prison house haven't yet lengthened about him.

MISPLACED MERCY.

The vicious murder of a six-year-old girl recently stirred all of New York; nor was public indignation greatly quieted by the discovery that the murderer—who was arrested and confessed—had already served two prison terms for offenses against young children.

Here, it would seem, is a field in which the penalties provided by law are too lenient rather than too heavy. A man who is given to offenses of this kind is too terrible a menace to public safety to be permitted at large. One transgression ought to be enough to warrant society in locking such a man up for the balance of his life.

In other fields there are grounds for believing that our criminal code tends to be unduly severe. The hold-up man, the burglar, the defaulter—these men can often be rehabilitated and made useful members of society. But that doesn't apply in cases like this. No sentence can be too heavy.

I have no apprehensions. I am a fatalist. But let no one tell you I am not very glad when it is all over.—Sir Malcolm Campbell, English speed demon, commenting on his new attempt to better his world auto record of 253.96 miles an hour.

Don't let anyone make you think that the Christian religion would be more powerful, or more helpful, or more reasonable, if it were divested of its supernatural elements.—Bishop William T. Manning, New York.

A criminal is a person with predatory instinct who has not sufficient capital for to form a corporation.—Howard Scott, spokesman for technocracy.

I'm the only man who can run on the platform of Jefferson and Lincoln at the same time.—U. S. Senator Huey Long (Dem., La.).

There is nothing the matter with Japan. It is the others who are all wrong.—Sadao Araki, Japan's minister of war, commenting on Japan's disagreement with the League of Nations.

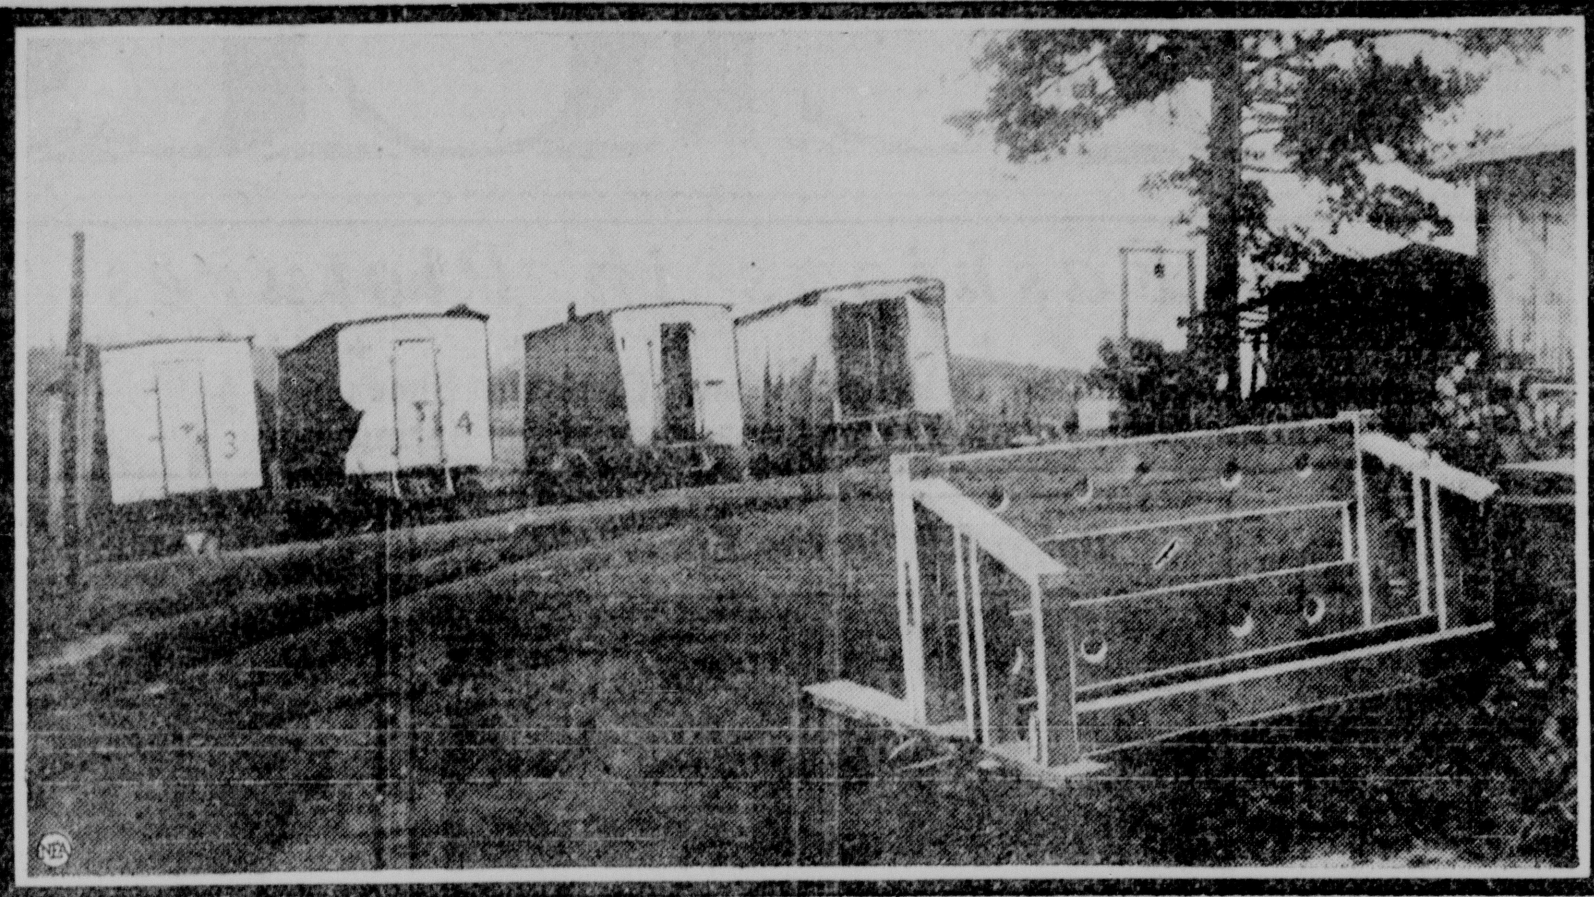

I have known convicts to commit crimes so as to return to the chain gang, where life for them has been more comfortable than so-called freedom.—Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan.

Can anything be harsher to the privileged than the words "there is no work" are to the unemployed?—William Green, president, American Federation of Labor.

There never has been and in all probability never again will be such an opportunity for advantageous investment as at present.—Alliston Cragg, writer on investments.

I prefer credulity to scepticism and cynicism, for there is more promise in almost anything than in nothing at all.—Prof. Ralph Barton Perry of Harvard University.

CHAIN GANG!—Dreaded Stocks, Cages Found In Georgia State Prison Camps

Like animal cages at the circus stand the convict wagons in this Georgia chain gang camp, while the grim stocks await any who break the stringent rules. Sketch shows operation of the stocks.

By NEA Service—

Dalton, Ga., Feb. 3.—The Chain Gang! Subject to bitter denunciation from outside sources, and spirited defense by Georgia authorities, the eyes of one who merely goes to see?

About three miles south of here is the Whitfield County Chain Gang. It is fairly typical; some are better, some worse.

Parked along the road among the scrub pine, stands a row of great wagons, square, like those in which a circus keeps its pacing animals. A lattice of steel bars forms the sides. Within each cage on wheels, 12 men are confined. Six bunks are along each side, three deep, end to end. In these, after long hours of back-breaking work on the roads, often chained to each other, men sleep in the same sweat-soaked clothes in which they have worked all day. A heavy canvas curtain which may be unrolled to cover the barred sides of the cage is their only protection against weather.

In each cage is a narrow cutoff, above a metal tub suspended just beneath the cage. That is the only sanitary arrangement.

Once a week, on Saturday night, these men get a change of clothing and a chance to bathe in a stream that runs some 100 yards from the convict cages.

Beneath a scraggly pine tree stands a curious wooden contraption with a row of holes in its face. This is the stocks, like those you have seen in pictures from 300 years ago. But these are an improved model of stocks, not like the simple pictures in your history book.

These stocks are authorized by the state prison commission as one form of punishment called on its books "restricted movement." The convict sits on the sharpened edge of a board, hands and feet stretched out before him and locked in holes between two other boards.

Twelve men are penned in this cage.

An hour, the rules say, is the limit of this punishment, which is inflicted by the camp warden on any prisoners who do not work hard enough on the roads, or who break discipline in camp.

To sustain them during the day of "from sunrise to sunset" on the roads, prisoners at this camp get molasses for breakfast, and dried beans or peas, with occasional turnip greens as a treat, for dinner and supper. Fat pork is occasionally provided.

These cages in Whitfield County camp meet all the requirements of the state prison commission for living quarters "when not in permanent quarters." The rules provide for substantial buildings for "permanent quarters," but this county has never had any. This is the Chain Gang as seen in one of its camps which appears typical of most of the 150 maintained by the state of Georgia.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 5.

The Golden Text was, "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "How great are his signs! and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation" (Daniel 4:3).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "When mortal man blends his thoughts of existence with the spiritual and works only as God works, he will no longer grope in the dark and cling to earth because he has not tasted heaven" (p. 263).

One of the most beautiful things in life is a spirit of friendship among neighbors, for without friendship life for all of us would indeed be but an empty shell. We have been passing through some very trying times—times that have tested the character and courage of neighbors as never before, and the cooperation and courage shown by the fortunate and the unfortunate neighbors in every community in this land has done the most to relieve suffering.

These ties of friendship, based on confidence and understanding, have woven many people closer together, and when this cloud of depression and economy has passed away and the pleasanter days come, A TRUE NEIGHBORLY SPIRIT WILL HAVE DEVELOPED WHICH WILL STAY WITH US FOREVER.

1932 Gold Output Biggest In History

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The 1932 world output of gold was the largest in history at $494,240,370. In 1931 production had a value of $458,212,560.

Figures compiled by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics place the total output at 23,911,000 fine ounces against 22,168,000 in the previous year. This supply was largely augmented by the unloading of hoards in India, Great Britain and Russia.

Production in the United States amounted to 2,513,000 ounces valued at $51,943,710 compared with 2,396,000 ounces worth $49,525,320 in 1931.

A BOOK A DAY

The Russian revolution handed old-world diplomats a puzzle that they could not solve. They fussed around with it, made owlish eyes at it and stroked their chins energetically, but in the end they succeeded only in making a bad situation a great deal worse.

R. H. Bruce Lockhart, was attached to the British consul's office in Moscow when the revolution broke. As the long months passed and the Kerensky regime gave way to the Bolsheviks, the British government decided to make a feeble unofficial effort to gain an understanding with the new government. Lockhart was chosen as its agent.

As a result, his career was entirely wrecked, his reputation at home was ruined and the Bolsheviks very nearly shot him as a spy.

He tells about it all in "British Agent," an exciting book which gives an intimate and realistic picture of the whole revolution.

Lockhart's job was to try to get the Bolsheviks back into the war. It was a hopeless task; and yet, at one time, because of the rapacity of the Germans at Brest-Litovsk, it had a chance of success. But the British—like the other Allied nations—misunderstood and fumbled their chance with sublime stupidity. They insisted on believing that the Bolshevik power would presently be overthrown; so they intervened and backed counter-revolutionary moves, and thereby, says Lockhart, brought on the red terror and made Russia's sufferings infinitely worse than they need have been.

This book is marvelously illuminating and often very thrilling.

Daily Health Talk

TEACHING THE CHILD TO EAT

During the first year of its life, the child is required to acquire three sets of fundamental habits, namely those pertaining to eating, sleeping and excretion.

Those concerning feeding are the most important. The child must, as the psychologists put it, jump several hurdles in learning to feed. The child begins its feeding experience by taking milk from the breast. It must learn subsequently to take milk and other liquid foods from a bottle. Later it must learn to feed from a spoon, a cup and a plate, and must add semi-solid and solid foods to its diet.

The infant is not a passive body which may be made to do things without resistance, but, on the contrary, an unreasonable creature largely motivated by its impulses and desires.

Having become habituated to taking milk from the breast, it is prone to refuse milk when served from a bottle or spoon. If maintained too long on liquid foods it will resent the inclusion in its diet of semi-solid or solid foods.

The resistance of infants is at times phenomenal. They will persist in starving rather than in accepting the proffered new food or method.

Pediatricians nowadays so organize the routine of feeding that the child is not permitted to become too firmly conditioned to any one form.

While breast milk and breast feeding during the early months of its life are essential to the child's welfare, pediatricians urge the inclusion of formula milk, given to the child from a bottle, before it is three months of age.

This paves the way to the ultimate transfer of the child from the breast to bottle feeding.

Likewise, pediatricians urge that

The cubs just loved their milk and bread and very shortly wee Duncy said, "I think you two are little pigs. Just see the way you eat!"

"I try to feed you from a spoon but I will stop it pretty soon, if you don't sit up and try to be a wee bit neat."

"The milk is dripping from your jaws and it is smeared upon your paws. I've never seen such careless bears. How hungry you must be."

One bear let out a little roar, as if it was begging for some more. Poor Duncy added, "What's the use? You both are beyond me."

"Oh, shucks, lad, let them have their fun," the hunter said. "Just wait! I'll run and get some more milk for them. Let's be sure they have enough."

Then, to another one he said, "You get another loaf of bread. I must admit it's fun for me to watch the two bears stuff."

The two bears soon jumped to the ground and then began to waddle around. "Why, they are so full they can't stand up," said wee Duncy with a grin.

"Two quarts of milk they've put away and that is plenty for one day. I will bet when night-time comes, they will be ready to turn in."

Then Duncy said, "Before it is light I am going to give you lads a slight. The hunter told me I could use some of his hunting clothes."

"He has some that are much too small, but that won't bother me at all. I'm going to dress the cub bears up. How they will look goodness knows."

"I'll gladly help you," Windy cried. And then the two lads went inside another room. The bears went, too, and soon they all came out.

The bears were dressed up, fit to kill. It seemed to give the cubs a thrill. The other Tinnies welcomed them, with a merry shout.

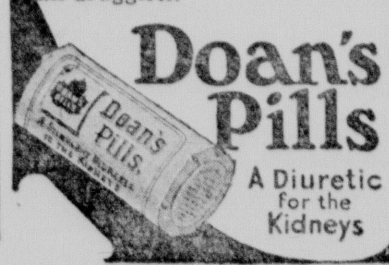

(One cub gets the surprise of his life, in the next story.)

SHARPE-SHOOTERS DROP BELOW .500 PER CENT RECORD

Defeat By Belvidere Was Followed By One From Poloites

By DON HILLIKER

Two defeats last week-end placed Dixon a notch below a .500 average for the current season. On Saturday evening the local five dropped a 30-20 game to Polo, which defeat, coupled with Belvidere's win of 18-15 on the preceding night, leaves Dixon with four wins and five losses. The lights took their second decision in two days by a 15-10 count. The coming Friday night Dixon travels to Mendota and completes a two-game road trip with a non-conference game in Rock Falls on Saturday.

Without a doubt Polo has one of the strongest teams in this section. Playing on their court the winners could not be stopped. Bischoff, the former Belvidere lightweight, is the main cog in the works. An idea of the manner in which Polo plays on its floor is their record from the field. During the four quarters Polo attempted only 36 shots and succeeded to connect on 13. Any team able to shoot an average such as this is tough to lick. Polo was a hundred per cent improved since Dixon fans viewed them in action here early in the season.

Dixon got the jump on Polo in the first minute when Henry scored. Polo tied it up and with Reinert getting two baskets led at the quarter 9-8. Bischoff led the next periods play scoring on three one handers to put Polo in front 12-12 at the half's intermission. One consolation in the next two periods of the game for downhearted Dixon enthusiasts is that Dixon did not lay down in the second half as was the case in the Rock Falls and Belvidere contests. They were playing just as hard as in the first half but Polo outscored them to win. Dixon's hopes for the game took a decided downward trend when Strong committed his third and fourth fouls in the first four minutes of the second quarter and was forced from the game. Polo was ahead at the third quarter's end 24-16. Polo was the better team in the closing quarter to cop the decision.

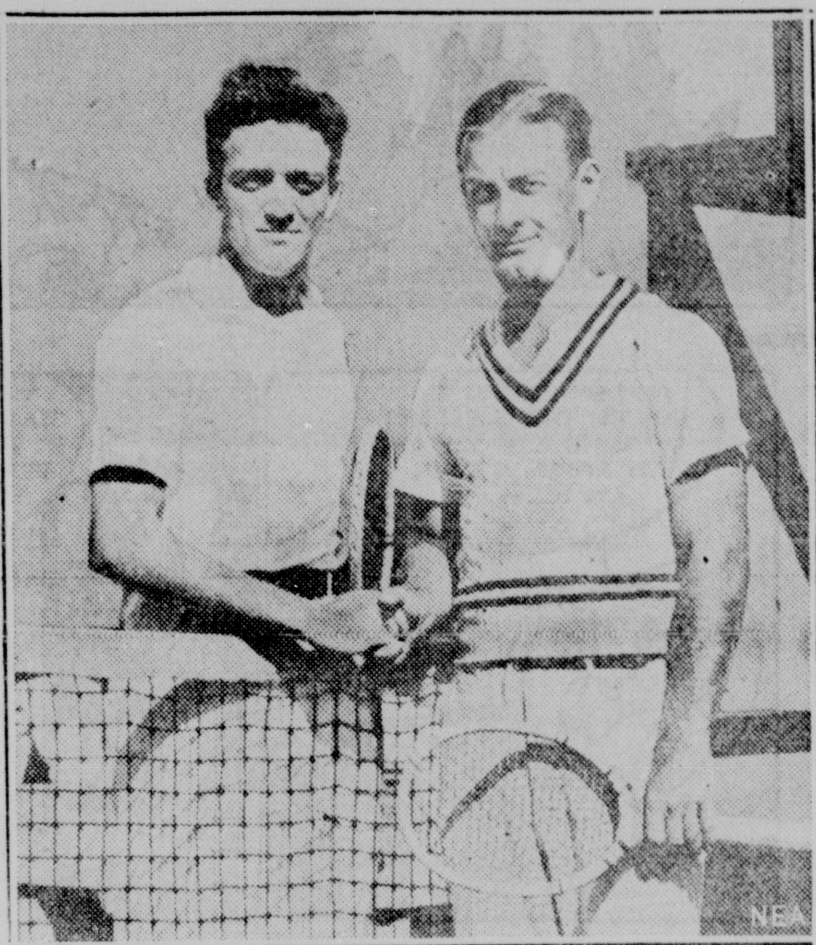

Henry threw a scare into Polo when his long shot dropped through immediately after the first tip-off. Reinert soon tied it on a side shot. A right hand toss by Bischoff from just inside the free throw line banked in the first four minutes of the game. Polo's free throw was 5-4 in Dixon's favor when Henry clicked on another long heave. H. Scott put Polo into the lead again with a short toss. Scoring from under the hoop Reinert made his second basket. A free throw by Bischoff totalled 9-5 count. Strong made a free heave and then Henry swished a beauty, a long high-arched shot, from the side and it was 9-8. The score remained thus to the end of the period.

Ten points in the second quarter gave Polo the commanding lead which Dixon was unable to overhaul. The first score was another one-arm toss by Bischoff. M. Scott sunk a pretty shot from the corner. The rampage continued with Beck hitting the net from beyond the foul line. Dixon was still in the game, however, as Bellos threw in a toss from far out. To complete one of the best nights of the season Henry scored his fourth basket again from the side and a good distance out. In rapid succession Bischoff scored two baskets, one a set-up, with his deadly one-hand tosses. This left the score at the end of the half 19-12.

What might have been a winning spurt was started when Bellos scored early in the second half. Beck got a free toss for Polo followed by H. Scott's basket to give Polo a 22 to 14 lead. Then Strong's fourth foul ruled out the Dixon star left the game. Strong's successor, Fordham pushed Dixon into striking distance with a basket from just inside the free line. Polo was awarded the ball, out of bounds and Bischoff stood under the basket and took the pass to score a sleeper and gave Polo a 24-16 lead. The quarter ended here.

The final quarter's scoring started with M. Scott's set-up. H. Scott dropped in a side throw and Polo led 28-16. Flanagan dribbled in for a basket to make it 29-18. Polo added a point on Reinert's free toss, at this stage Bellos departed with four fouls. Underwood scored on a difficult shot from close in. The last score of the game was

Showed 'Em a Lott of Tennis

George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, became the new All-South tennis champion when he defeated Clifford Sutter of New Orleans at Miami. 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3. Sutter (left) is congratulating Lott after the match.

"Big Shot" Bill McGowan, Beau Brummel of the American League umpires, tells this one on himself. Bill, of the Wilmington, Del. McGowans, was officiating at an exhibition game in the south in which the Athletics were performing for the benefit of the awed populace. McGowan was calling them on the bases, and a lot of close ones on third were going against Jimmy Dykes.

"Of course, Jimmy didn't come Beck's free toss to give Polo 20-16, 20 at the finish.

One of the neatest cage players in Illinois, Bischoff, led the scoring. He hit for five baskets, and two free throws for 12 points. Henry's four long ringers gave him eight points and second position. This defeat gave Dixon an even break in the resumption of the Polo games. In the opening game of Dixon's schedule Polo lost on the local floor, 24-13.

Dixon, 15; Polo, 5. To increase their winning streak of the week to two, Dixon's B team won easily, 15-8. Sweeping Polo completely off its feet the Dixons led 5 to 0 at the quarter. Grove's free toss and Red Flanagan's two long swishers gave Dixon its points. Cinnamon got a free toss to start the second period. Beck broke into the scoring column for Polo with a free toss. Flanagan made a free toss followed by a set-up and then a long shot by Cinnamon. Grove made a pretty shot to give Dixon a 13-1 lead at the half. Dixon failed to score in the third quarter, while Polo's only advance was Dennis dribble-in basket. The score to begin the final period was 13-3. Folk and Grove got baskets in the last quarter to give Dixon the game, 15-5.

The highest individual scoring was five points, a total which Grove, Flanagan and Cinnamon equalled.

EXPECT DEKALB TO KNOCK NORTH CENTRAL OFF TOP

Little Nineteen Teams Face Hard Games Coming Week

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Occupying the Little Nineteen hot spot as the only undefeated basketball team among twenty-one downstate Illinois collegiate conference members, North Central College today became the object of envy and interest as the 1933 championship race began its busiest and most crucial week.

The strongest seige gun among four or five championship contenders will be trained on the Naperville institution tonight this week in what probably will be the last chance to knock North Central from the pinnacle and return the campaign to a free for all basis.

DeKalb Northern Teachers, present occupants of second place and erstwhile leaders in the drive, have been delegated by the other more prominent championship aspirants—Bradley Tech, Macomb Teachers, Carbondale Southern Teachers, and possibly Illinois Wesleyan and Monmouth to bump off North Central. The game will be played at Naperville Saturday and a DeKalb victory probably would elevate that team into first place and give any one of the others a chance to cop the title eventually.

Other Possibilities

Should North Central win, however, Coach Gordon Fisher's team would then have only to defeat Elmhurst, Wheaton and Lake Forest, teams it already has trampled this year, to win the championship now held by Carthage.

Macomb and Carbondale, each winning three games last week, drove deep into the pack behind North Central, tying with Bradley for third place, each team having five victories in six games. The Western Teachers edged ahead of the defending champions 44 to 40, and incidentally probably clinched Carthage from the race, the defeated Augustana 30 to 25, and Elmhurst 33 to 28. Southern Teachers won their second game this season from State Normal 20 to 21, then beat Shurtleff 33 to 25 and McKendree 46 to 16.

Stay in Race

DeKalb managed to slip into second place by defeating State Normal 37 to 36 in a thrilling second half while North Central successfully defended its position against James Millikin of Decatur 31 to 20. Carthage, after losing to Macomb whipped Illinois 36 to 28, but the Jacksonville boys had already earned their share of the week's victories by winning a fast game from Shurtleff 47 to 42. The even break took Illinois from seventh to fourth place.

Augustana lost a non-conference game to St. Ambrose 26 to 25, and Knox and Monmouth succeeded in repelling the Beloit invasion of Illinois Midwest Conference members. Knox won 28 to 20 and Monmouth won 29 to 21. Wheaton whipped Aurora 34 to 20.

Twenty-five games, sixteen of which are conference engagements, are on this week's card, with Shurtleff and St. Viator each playing three games. Important battles include Knox and Augustana at Rock Island Normal and St. Viator and Illinois at Eureka on Tuesday; Wesleyan against Millikin at Decatur Wednesday; Carbondale at Macomb, North Central at Millikin and St. Viator at Shurtleff Friday, and Monmouth at Bradley Saturday.

Gossip About Baseball Stars And Near Stars

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced receipt of the signed contracts of Coach Otto Miller and Pitcher Ed Pipgras. Miller has been with the club for 20 years. Pipgras, a rookie, is a brother of George Pipgras, veteran hurler for the New York Yankees.

Babe Ruth has changed his mind about having any further conferences with Yankee officials over his salary here and plans to leave with his family for St. Petersburg, Fla., within a few days. The Babe's aim is to get an early start at getting into condition. As a result of his decision any further dickering over his salary will have to be done under the palms, probably after the Yankees go into camp there.

McGRAW PRAISES HIS SUCCESSOR AS FINE YOUTH

"Little Napoleon" Is the Guest Of Honor At N. Y. Spread

By ALAN GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Feb. 6.—(AP)—There were no fireworks today in the wake of John McGraw's appearance, for the first time, as the guest of honor at the annual banquet of the Baseball Writers' Association, devoted annually for ten years to a mid-winter frolic and occasion for putting the national game "on the gridiron."

The writers themselves lampooned the Giants and lamented the departure of the "Little Napoleon" from the scene of action, after a stormy career, but the stocky, grey-haired man who won more penitents than any other figure in baseball deftly and with a sporting gesture side-stepped any opportunity he may have had to air real or fancied grievances.

"I think I may say one thing," he remarked, after receiving an ovation from several hundred guests and hearing himself described in a telegram from Connie Mack as "baseball's greatest manager," "and that is that I have never let to influence the baseball writers. I have burned inwardly and outwardly at things they have written about me but I have never quarreled with the means they used to reach their conclusions."

"I served under three presidents of the New York Giants and I want to make it clear that I was treated well by all of them. I have heard talk there was friction between myself and Mr. Stoneman upon my retirement last year but that was not so. I relied on my doctor's orders."

Praises Successor

"My successor, Bill Terry, is a fine young man and a great ball player. I can only wish for him as long a career and as great a measure of success and enjoyment as I experienced during my long term as manager of the Giants."

McGraw interrupted his annual vacation in Havana to attend the dinner and be feted by the writers as the "man of the year" in recognition of his contributions to the game. He harked back to the days of the old Baltimore Orioles, recalled his trip around the world with the Giants and White Sox in 1914 and pointed to developments in the game but steered clear of any controversial subjects.

To Branch Rickey, energetic field marshal of the St. Louis Cardinals, McGraw assigned the current discussion about what is wrong with the game. He responded with an appeal for closer working relations between the club owners and baseball writers, called for "more enterprise" and insisted that the game "cannot hide behind the depression."

As to salaries, Rickey defended the drastic cuts made by the magnates last year and this on the ground that ball players have been among the highest paid performers in any sport and felt the depression less than any others.

The New York Chapter's annual award to the player on a metropolitan team doing the most for the game went to Herb Pannock, veteran southpaw of the New York Yankees.

Casting Away Political Worries

It's a good catch that Joseph V. McKee, former acting mayor of New York City, is displaying as he unloads off the pier at Miami. McKee has taken a vacation from his official duties as aldermanic president and is in Florida during a West Indian cruise. Meanwhile the campaign to make him Florida candidate for mayor next year continues in New York.

Hooks and Slides

By BILL BRAUCHER

There's a lot of life in the old boy yet.

I mean Tris Speaker, the old "Gray Eagle," who, at the half-century mark, climbs back onto the baseball band wagon as manager of the Kansas City Blues.

You haven't heard much of Tris in recent years—and yet he is one of baseball's immortals and greatly respected ball hawks who stood them on their feet and made them howl like mad men in his hey-day.

The fielding qualities of "Spoke," as the boys knew him, and Ty Cobb, are usually a subject for a hot argument whenever the lads of the Hot Stove League gather in the back room and commence their discussion of baseball greats. But this writer is convinced that Spoke was the greatest outfielder of all time.

STRIKE YUH'RE OUT!—Some twenty-two seasons did Speaker spend in the big leagues. And the boys all knew and feared his antics in the outfield and his throwing arm all the way through his career with the Boston Red Sox and the Cleveland Indians.

Spoke was a great thrower. His eye for the plate from the garden was so uncanny that it once caused Donie Bush to remark, "Why, he throws strikes from the outfield!" And many's the guy the fleet Speaker threw out at home.

Spoke had a great mind. That mind made him probably the smartest player-manager ever to hit baseball.

One incident that clearly demonstrated Spoke's wit and thinking ability occurred in 1917. The Indians were playing the White Sox on this particular day. A Cleveland player was on third, Spoke on second, two out and one run needed to win.

The batter hit a pop fly between third and short and as Buck Weaver was getting under the ball, Tris ran in and quietly said, "I'll take it, Buck." And Weaver, thinking it was Risberg, Sox player, stepped aside. The ball fell safe and Cleveland won.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for Calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and liver troubles.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. "If you have a 'dark brown mood'—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

OHIO JUST ABLE TO GET BY WITH GOPHER VICTORY

May Meet Harder Foe Tonight On Floor At Madison, Wis.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Still leading the race, but somewhat subdued by a close call at Minnesota Saturday night, Ohio State will risk its choice position in the Big Ten basketball standing tonight at Wisconsin.

After averaging 37 points a game in winning three straight championship contests at home, the Buckeyes just managed to get by Minnesota Saturday, 24 to 23, and may find Wisconsin even more difficult tonight. If the Badgers upset Ohio, Northwestern can move to the top by overcoming Indiana at Bloomington, which also may prove to be quite a task. In tonight's other game, Chicago will play at Iowa.

Wisconsin, Iowa and Indiana will play two title contests during the week. After meeting Ohio State tonight, the Badgers will tackle Illinois at Champaign on Saturday, and Indiana's Saturday job involves Minnesota at Bloomington. Iowa will entertain Purdue Saturday. St. Louis University will play at Illinois tomorrow night, and Saturday's schedule includes three battles against non-conference opponents. Michigan plays at Michigan State, Ohio plays host to Army, and Chicago continues its tough schedule at Marquette.

Wildcats In Action

While Ohio and Minnesota were resuming title warfare last Saturday, Northwestern returned to action with a 31 to 24 victory over Washburn in a raged game. Chicago, short of material but long on hard battles, lost to Notre Dame, 30 to 26. The Maroons were able to make it a battle for half the game, but sagged in the second period and the Irish won easily.

The standing, in conference games only:

| | W | L | Pct. |
|--------------|---|---|-------|
| Ohio State | 4 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Northwestern | 4 | 1 | .800 |
| Michigan | 4 | 1 | .800 |
| Wisconsin | 3 | 1 | .750 |
| Purdue | 2 | 2 | .500 |
| Iowa | 2 | 2 | .500 |
| Indiana | 2 | 3 | .400 |
| Illinois | 1 | 2 | .333 |
| Minnesota | 0 | 5 | .000 |
| Chicago | 0 | 5 | .000 |

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—One of the biggest battles in Congress—fought out regularly on the floor of the House every two years—occurred as usual this year, but perhaps with a bit more acerbity than at other times.

Capital wits have come to know it as "Ross Collins" vs. "The Generals."

Ross Collins is the portly, high-voiced congressman from Mississippi who has charge of the committee that provides the money for running Uncle Sam's military establishment. "The Generals" is that group in the house that numbers among its membership a retired major general, a judge advocate general and a brigadier general.

HIS PET AVERSION—

Collins' pet aversion is what he describes "patriotic rackets." The R. O. T. C. and C. M. T. C. he pounces upon at every opportunity he receives.

He boasts that he doesn't have a fort, training camp or any sort of military activity in his district. What irks the "generals" most, perhaps—those in and out of congress—is the manner in which he ratchets them when they appear before him.

During the hearings on the bill before it came before the house a full-fledged major general appeared before Collins and made a statement on what he terms the necessity for military training in the camps.

SCRAP GOES ON—

Collins heard him through, then shot the sarcastic question: "Does that conclude your campaign speech before the committee? You have no other oration like that of a political nature to make?"

This so enraged one of the representatives that he took it to the floor of the house, demanding that Collins at least show courtesy to the "generals."

"When generals make political speeches," retorted Collins, "I usually tell them about it. I do not tell them in the presence of a man because he happens to be a general and I do not—I treat 'em all alike."

Last summer when the only woman in the United States senate—the soft-spoken black-gowned Mrs. Caraway of Arkansas—was seeking reelection, she made a statement read with considerable interest in Washington.

"You may see me yet," she said in discussing her campaign, "flailing my arms around and shouting."

That there was a lot of that sort of thing done in her campaign, what with Huey Long and his bandwagons touring Arkansas in her behalf, is certain.

At any rate, in view of the "colorful" campaign, that resulted in her being sent back to the senate, and her statement about "flailing" and "shouting," many observers watched upon her return to see whether any change could be detected in "the little woman from Arkansas."

NOT MUCH CHANGED—

Now with the 72nd congress in the "home stretch" it is about agreed that to all outward appearances there hasn't been much change.

She has yet to inject herself into debate, preferring to remain silent in her seat and listen.

In the discharge of her other duties it is much the same. Those who watched her in hearings before the senate committee on the proposed farm relief bill noticed that she sat by quietly intently listening to the testimony of various witnesses.

But it is when she is away from the senate and, as they say on the hill, talking "off the record" that she reveals herself as she really is.

SPEAKS HER MIND—

Then she speaks her mind freely. She delights in telling anecdotes about her recent and turbulent campaign. She even recites little poems illustrating some of her experiences in that drive with Huey Long that resulted in making her the first woman ever elected to a full term to the senate.

Those who have been in on some of these informal conversations say that it's a vastly different woman from the one who sits daily on the senate floor, still looking perhaps a bit bewildered and hesitant to jump in the fray.

Perhaps, after all, she will never bring herself to the point of "flailing" her arms and "shouting" on the senate floor. Perhaps she remembers the promise she once made her constituents:

"I may not talk like a statesman, but I hope to convince you that I vote like one."

Chicago's Letter Men Want Metcalf To Listen To 'Em

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Thomas Nelson Metcalf who will succeed A. A. Stagg as Athletic Director at the University of Chicago, upon the latter's retirement next June, may have decided upon his choice of a successor to the old man, as head of the football team, to listen to their ideas on the subject.

The "C" men—winners of athletic letters at Chicago—will meet Wednesday night to promote a plan of turning the football job over to a Chicago graduate, Metcalf, who will name Stagg's successor—with the approval of the Board of Governors—has been asked to attend and listen.

The group informally has selected Judge Walter P. Steffen, one of the greatest of Chicago's gridiron greats and until this year advisory coach at Carnegie Tech, as their candidate.

Meanwhile, Stagg has signed to coach at the College of the Pacific, Stockton, Calif., where he will embark upon a new career at the age of 71—looking 61 and "feeling 21."

Young Harmon To Make Debut Tonight

Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Frankie Harmon, son of the founder of the Chicago Stadium, the late Paddy Harmon, will make his debut in the business of promoting boxing to-night with a ten-round feature between Varias Milling, Filipino featherweight, and Paul Dazzo of Chicago.

The scene of the younger Harmon's bow will be the Washington Boulevard Auditorium, in the same neighborhood, but several blocks away from the Stadium, which has suspended boxing promotion, since going into equity receivership.

Milling, one of the fighting Filipinos, fought a savage draw with Johnny Pena of New York, in the Stadium's last show, and today was a 7 to 5 favorite to beat Dazzo, who ranks as Chicago's best in the 126-pound division.

Income Taxes Explained By Commissioner

HOW TO AVOID COMMON ERRORS

The period for the filing of income-tax returns covering the calendar year 1932 begins January 1 and ends at midnight of March 15. Within this period are filed annually millions of individual income-tax returns, a large proportion of which report income subject to the tax. The latter contain a considerable percentage of errors, which if uncorrected by the audit would result to the disadvantage of the taxpayer. Many are errors of computation easily discovered on the face of the return, which usually is accompanied by a payment of more than the amount of tax due. In other returns it is readily discernible that the taxpayer has failed to take advantage of the personal exemption, credit allowed for dependents, or deductions from gross income to which he is entitled.

To avoid these and other errors, the Bureau of Internal Revenue, urges careful reading of the instructions on the forms for filing the returns. Additional information, if needed, may be obtained at the office of a collector of internal revenue, deputy collector, or an internal-revenue agent in charge. Also, as a further aid in the preparation of a correct income-tax return for the year 1932, the bureau has prepared a series of short newspaper articles, of which this is the first, advising the salaried man, wage earner, professional and business man—in fact, every class of individual taxpayer—of his requirements and privileges as interpreted under the latest regulations, rulings, and decisions relating to the income-tax law.

ASHTON NEWS

By E. TILTON

Ashton—Mrs. Kenneth Hogan, a recent bride was a guest of honor at a shower held at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Jacobs on Friday. The shower was a complete surprise to the guest of honor. After a social hour the time was spent unwrapping and exhibiting the many useful and beautiful gifts presented the recent bride.

Wedding cakes for the event were baked by Mrs. William Grover and Mrs. Roy Spratt, near neighbors of the newly wedded couple. These, accompanied by ice cream, formed most delicious refreshments.

On Saturday Mrs. Hogan was a guest of honor of the Golden Glow Club, an organization of young women whose membership eases with their marriage. As a parting gift to their member a beautiful table cloth with napkins was given her by the club.

SPOTLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, is discharged from a new play because MARIAN RANDOLPH, the star is jealous of her. Sheila searches for work and finally secures a part in a musical show soon to go on tour. DICK STANLEY, who was Jerry's friend, asks her to marry him but Sheila refuses. Her idea of marriage is a home in a little town far from Broadway.

The company departs on the tour and in a little midwestern city Sheila meets JERRY WYMAN. He seems to be a hard working young man with little money. Sheila is not aware that Jerry's father owns the factory where he works. Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. After she leaves, however, Jerry's affection seems to cool. He writes frequently and this makes Sheila unhappy.

Back in New York again, she gets a job in a night club. Weeks pass and then one night while dancing she meets Jerry. He comes to speak to her but does not introduce her to the others in his party. Jerry tells Sheila he has tried to call her. She does not believe this and refuses to make an engagement with him.

Sheila is hired as the featured principal in another road company. The company sets off on its tour.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXI

IT was several months before "Fine Feathers" played Jerry's home town. Sheila had not written to him but she was sure he would know of her arrival. Posters announcing that she was the featured member of the company had papered the town for two weeks.

And so she was disappointed on reaching the hotel to find that, among her letters, there was no message from Jerry.

Perhaps he would telephone. That was more likely. She remained in her room, having lunch there, and hoping for a call but it did not come.

The "Fine Feathers" engagement in Spencer was for three nights. All that first day Sheila toyed with the idea of telephoning Jerry. At last she took up the directory. There was no Wyman listed except a bicycle shop on a side street. Certainly she could not reach Jerry there.

Well, if she could not find the correct number she could not call him. That settled that!

"After the way I treated him last summer of course he won't call me," she told herself. "If I'll think that I want to see him I'll send some word."

Deep in her heart she knew this could not be true. The careless camaraderie of the theatrical world did not apply to Jerry Wyman's circle. There girls did not telephone to young men. They waited for them to call. No, Jerry was not expecting to hear from her.

Then it occurred to her that she might send a telegraph. She could write a discreet message and they would know at the telegraph office where to deliver it. She considered this plan but hesitated, hoping Jerry would come to see her.

The first performance passed without word from him. Nor did to be held at the Presbyterian church February 16 when a speaker will talk on the "1933, Century of Progress Exposition" to be held in Chicago. The meeting is under the auspices of the Ashton Woman's club.

The Ashton high school orchestra, under the direction of Herman O'May, will be a feature at the Lee County Teachers' Institute at Dixon, February 10.

The Aaron Meling sale, held on Tuesday, attracted a large attendance, despite stormy weather.

The Ben Berve sale Tuesday, attracted a smaller crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hedrick were hosts to Mr. Hedrick's brother the past week.

The Parlor Club will follow the O. E. S. regular meeting on February 7th.

Rev. J. H. Johnson, who through many years of faithful service has endeavored in our community, celebrated his 76th birthday recently. His son, Rev. A. P. Johnson and wife of Chicago, were his guests of honor on the occasion.

Stagg May Feel At Home On The Coast
 Chicago, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg will feel pretty much at home if he can schedule football games for the College of the Pacific, with Southern California, California at Los Angeles, University of Washington and California, the coaches of which are former Big Ten neighbors.

Howard Jones of Southern California, coached at Iowa; Bid Spaulding went from Minnesota to California at Los Angeles; Jimmy Phelan moved from Purdue to Washington; Bud Ingram went to Washington from Indiana via Annapolis.

In addition, Tom Leib of Loyola at Los Angeles, coached at Wisconsin.

he appear at the stage door later. No flowers arrived and no message. She was surprised to find how much this depressed her. As Sheila understood for bed that night she tried to make excuses to herself. The excuses were unsatisfactory and she could only hope that the next day she would hear from him.

BUT there was no message the following day or that evening. Sheila, worrying about this, knew that her performance was not up to standard. As she bounded into the wings after her first number, graceful and light-footed, the comedian spoke to her.

"Anything bothering you, Sheila?" he asked.

Her heart sank. So it was as obvious as that! The applause which almost invariably called her back for an encore was tonight only a polite, brief patting.

Sheila shook her head. "No, I'm all right," she said.

The comedian's keen eyes showed he was not convinced. "If there is," he told her, "you know I'll be glad to do anything I can—"

She smiled. "Thanks. Maybe I'm a little homesick for New York."

The juvenile appeared then at her elbow. "We'll have to do something about that, Miss Shayne," he said. Within five minutes Sheila would be back on the stage dancing with this youth. She turned to her despondency.

"Freddy—here I am keeping you waiting!" she exclaimed, then disappeared in her dressing room to return a few moments later wearing another costume.

"Jerry'll be waiting," she told herself all through the performance. "He'll come. I know he will!"

There was still one more night left. "Fine Feathers" was to depart after the Saturday night show.
